

Supervisor of Teacher Education

The School of Education at the University of California, Riverside, a minority serving institution, invites applications for Supervisor of Teacher Education in all subjects, with special consideration for Spanish, English, and Multiple Subject with a Bilingual Authorization in Spanish, and those with expertise in K-12 Ethnic Studies. These positions are for one-year, in a cohort-based program, and may be part time or full time. The UCR Teacher Education Program is committed to serving the Inland Southern California community and has partnerships with schools and districts throughout Riverside and San Bernardino Counties. It provides high quality, focused teacher preparation grounded in comprehensive mentoring for student and intern teachers. Priority consideration will be given to individuals previously appointed as a Supervisor of Teacher Education with the School of Education. The position will commence July 1, 2022, or as negotiated.

We are seeking applicants who have culturally sustaining and equity-focused expertise in the areas of teaching linguistically and culturally diverse students and in mentoring or supervising teachers. Supervisors teach courses identified for student and/or intern teaching seminars, student and/or intern teaching field experiences, and teaching performance assessment. Supervisors are expected to provide high quality instruction, mentorship, and supervision to a cohort of diverse pre-service and/or intern teachers according to California Commission on Teacher Credentialing and program requirements; assist in program events, trainings, and meetings; and, complete course syllabi, program reports and required documentation according to deadlines.

Minimum qualifications are: A Master's degree or equivalent; a minimum of 5 years of teaching experience with racially, linguistically, and socio-economically diverse student populations in a K-12 public school system; mentoring, coaching, or supervising teachers, including explicit expertise with teachers of Color; knowledge of California Common Core Standards. Preferred qualifications include a current California teaching credential (with special consideration for Spanish, English, and Multiple Subject with a Bilingual Authorization in Spanish); knowledge of Ethnic Studies; exceptional communication and networking skills; proficiency in Office software applications; demonstrated teaching success with diverse student populations; experience in supervising or mentoring pre-service teachers; knowledge of and experience in current education reform efforts, such as Common Core Standards in Mathematics and Common Core Standards in Literacy in Science; knowledge of new program standards and teaching performance expectations; knowledge of and experience in teacher performance assessment; experience with integrating technology in classroom curriculum; and, experience with developing and maintaining relationships with schools and districts in the Inland region. Specifically, the supervisor of teacher education is responsible for the following:
