Academic History

List all college or university-level institutions you have attended, are currently attending, or will attend. Include community college, study abroad, summer session, or other program leading to college credit. You must upload a transcript or academic record for each institution you have attended. Be sure to scan and upload the front and back sides of the transcript. If you have earned a degree, proof of degree awarded is required.

Visit our Academic Requirements page for important instructions about required documents.

You may upload your documents now, return and upload them before submission, or upload after submission to your Application Status page. We recommend uploading before submission to prevent any delays in the program reviewing your application.

Tips

- List multiple entries for the same institution if it leads to a different degree or degree award date.
- If you attempted a graduate program or took graduate-level courses in a non-degree program, select 'Graduate' for Level of Study .
- The Date Last Attended field should be your anticipated end date of your last term attended at that institution.
- Not following these instructions can cause delays in processing your application.
- Omitting attendance of institutions or degrees attempted or awarded may lead to the automatic denial of your application.

Reference Page

Graduate programs require three (3) letters of recommendation. The most important aspect of letters of recommendation is that they be completed by the individuals who are in a position to analyze your academic ability and potential for success in a rigorous graduate program. Your recommender must submit the reference letter electronically as instructed in the email they will receive upon entering and saving their contact information in this section. Paper copies of letters of recommendation received in support of your application will not be accepted.

Recommender Guidelines

1. At least two of the three letters should be requested from professors in your major subject if you are in progress to complete or recently completed your bachelor's degree or its equivalent. Those letters may highlight course work or research completed.
2. If you have been enrolled in or completed a graduate program, a minimum of one letter must be from your program's research or program advisor in that graduate program. If you do not have an advisor, a letter from a faculty member who taught you in a graduate level course is acceptable.
3. If you wish to submit a letter from an employer, please contact the graduate program advisor to determine if this will be acceptable.

Tips:

- All letters of recommendation must be submitted in English.
- If you wish to waive your right to inspect the letters of recommendation, mark the appropriate response. Only enrolled UCR students are permitted to inspect letters of recommendation for which they did not waive their right to access. The earliest you may inspect any letters you did not waive your rights, is after the third week of classes in your first quarter as a graduate student at UCR.
- Letters of recommendation cannot be released to the applicant, even if rights are not waived, nor be forwarded elsewhere.
- Applicants using Interfolio's online portfolio service may have their letters uploaded to our online application by providing the unique email address. To do so, please visit the Interfolio Help Article on where to find that email address. If you have questions, you may contact Interfolio at help@interfolio.com or call (877) 997-8807.

Add Reference

- Fill out all reference information and make sure email address is filled out correctly
- Waiving right to access letter: It is recommended to waive right to access letter for “academic references”. It is common for faculty to not want former students to access their letter of recommendation.
